Narashiman

Yagna (fire ritual) has a tremendous positive effect on atmosphere.

What is Yagna?

Sanatan Dharm has a special place for Agnihotra or Yagna which is basically offering pure and edible substances like rice, clarified butter, barley etc to Agni (sacred fire) by chanting spiritual mantras of Vedas.

Now,

A Yagna named “Athirathram” took place in the Panjal village of Thrissur dist. of Kerala.

A team of scientists led by Prof V P N Nampoori, (former director of the International School of Photonics, Cochin University of Science and Technology) went there to observe the effects of this Yagna on environment as whole.

They observe these phenomenon;

The germination process of all the seeds around that area increased tremendously. For example, seeds of Bengal gram germinated 2000 times faster than any other place.

Air, around 1.5 km. circumference of the Yagna place was very pure as compared to other places and it contained very less amount of microbe colonies as compared to other places.
